

Manufacturing – The digital journey

Digitalisation for manufacturers

A recent study found that 74% of manufacturing leaders are considering upgrading their communications networks by 2022.

Manufacturers of the future need to work more quickly and efficiently, with increased reliance on their digital networks to drive productivity - all whilst generating cost savings.

This is why digitalisation for manufacturers is vital for the future growth of the sector.

We want to support manufacturers on their digital journey and help them adopt digitalisation to drive success and true productivity.

Stage	Your Position	Our offer
Digital Novice	You're at the early stages of your digital journey and are eager to find out where you can get the right information.	Our 6 simple 'How To guides' will demonstrate how 5G and digital will improve your productivity and support your business goals.
Digital Explorer	You have completed the first steps on your innovation journey, now is the time to understand what is available.	Join us for an Explore Session, where you will understand the benefits of this technology and how to apply it within your business.
Digital Player	You will now be able to achieve your business objectives and increase productivity through the application of digital tools.	Following a diagnostic assessment with our team, we will align you with the right module to start your Productivity Programme journey.
Digital Innovator	You are ready to put your digital plan into action in your manufacturing facilities i.e., hardware, software and network installation and launch.	We will support you in choosing the correct solution to achieve your business objectives and increase your productivity, through our Digital Integration Projects (DIP) service.
Digital Disruptor	You have reached the summit of your Digital Journey; you have implemented your solution and are now looking to maintain and share the benefits going forward.	Our Managed Services offering will support your solution end-to-end, while the Supply Chain Integration service will bring your whole value chain to the next level of true productivity.

The opportunities for you

Each step of your Digital Journey is tailored towards manufacturers' different levels of digital capabilities, right from a Digital Novice to a Digital Disruptor.

We will provide organisations with a range of advice and materials including practical tips from our How-To Guides, Productivity Programme to Digital Integration Projects.
